Are you a Hero
or a Zero - do
the right thing today!

Zeroes to Heroes... - back

What is a Zero? What is a Hero?

- A Hero is a young person who stands up to peer pressure and says NO.
- A Hero is a young person who younger people look up to for all the right reasons.
- A Hero is a young person who has learned that if they have to change their behaviour to impress their mates - then they are not really mates at all!
- > A Zero is a young person who causes peer pressure or falls for peer pressure.
- > A Zero gets to feel good about themselves by impressing their mates.
- > A Zero is a young person who doesn't realize that people younger than them are copying them for all the wrong reasons.

So what does a Hero do?

Watch the news, read the paper, listen to the radio - the world is in a mess! Younger generations in many countries are almost out of control. Is this the kind of world you want to live in? More importantly, is the kind of world you want to bring your children into?

Heroes realise that they can do something to make a difference to other's lives - even if it is just to one young person. Humanutopia courses give young people the chance to make that difference to the little ones in their communities.

Heroes - do the right thing

Humanutopia challenges young people to decide whether they are a 'hero' or a 'zero.'
But what exactly is a hero?

.....
.....

A 'zero' is definitely not a hero, but how do they behave?

.....
.....
.....

Who is your hero?

.....

What is it about him or her that makes them a hero?
